

WEBSITE PRIVACY POLICY

Welcome to www.CoachQuinn.org (the “Website”), owned and operated by The John J. Quinn Student-Athlete Foundation, a Pennsylvania nonprofit organization (the “Organization”). This website privacy policy (this “Privacy Policy”) governs your use of the Website and the Organization’s use of your private information. This Privacy Policy creates a binding legal agreement between you and the Organization, and your access to the Website is subject to this Privacy Policy. By using the Website, you are accepting and agreeing to the terms of this Privacy Policy. The Organization reserves the right to update and change this Privacy Policy by posting updates and changes to the Website. You are advised to check the Privacy Policy from time to time for any updates or changes.

1. Data Collected by the Organization.

a. When you use the Website, the Organization may collect personally identifiable information that you provide to the Organization, such as your name, company, employer, address, phone number, email address, credit card information, social media credentials, or photo. The Website may collect such information from various platforms and Website applications, including, but not limited to, promotional emails sent by the Organization, articles published by the Organization, and posts sponsored by the Organization.

b. With your permission, the Organization may also access other profile and personal information from third-party websites. Such information may include usernames, passwords, photos, or other such data that you have posted on third-party websites.

c. Website systems may also collect and associate your personal information with your activities in providing the Website to you (such as pages you view or things you buy).

d. When you send an email or other communication to the Organization, the Organization may retain those communications to process your inquiries, respond to your requests, and improve the Website.

e. The Organization uses certain generic visitor information to better understand how visitors use the Website. This information is commonly made available by web browsers and servers, and may include the IP address assigned to your computer, and data about browser type, language preference, referring website, and the date and time of each visitor request.

2. The Organization’s Use of Data.

a. The Organization maintains and processes some personal information to provide access to its visitors and to effectively operate the Website.

b. The Organization uses your name, company name, and email address to notify you of updates that you have requested, as well as other information. There may also be instances where the Organization provides your name, email address or other information provided by you to its partners and affiliates so that they can provide you with requested information.

c. The Organization uses your provided credit card information to receive donations through the Website.

d. The Organization works with various partners, affiliates, and sponsors to provide its visitors with access to content, both physical and virtual. When you access such content or events through the Website, the Organization may use and provide your personally identifiable information to those partners, affiliates, and sponsors.

e. To operate the Website, the Organization may make identifiable and anonymous information available to third parties in limited circumstances: (1) with your express consent; (2) for research purposes; (3) when the Organization has a good faith belief that it is required by law; (4) when the Organization has a good faith belief that it is necessary to protect the Organization's rights or property; or (5) to any successor or purchaser in a merger, acquisition, liquidation, dissolution, or sale of assets. Your consent will not be required for disclosure in these cases, but the Organization will attempt to notify you, to the extent permitted by law to do so.

3. Unaffiliated Third Parties. Visitors should be aware that what they share on the Website may be discovered by third parties without the involvement of the Organization, including, without limitation, search engine crawlers and bots. Visitors should take this into consideration whenever sharing any information on the Website.

4. Unauthorized Minors. The Organization does not knowingly collect personal information from individuals under the age of eighteen (18). If you believe that the Organization has inadvertently collected such information, please contact the Organization immediately, so the Organization can promptly obtain parental consent or remove the information.

5. Security. Information collected by the Organization may be stored or processed on computers located wherever the Organization does business. The Organization takes reasonable steps to secure your personally identifiable information against the unauthorized access, alteration, disclosure, or destruction of data. However, no security method can be guaranteed to protect information from hackers or human error. The Organization uses reasonable efforts to comply with U.S.-E.U. and U.S.-Swiss Safe Harbor Privacy Principles regarding the collection, use, and retention of personally identifiable information from European Union member countries and Switzerland.

6. Proprietary Rights. All content on the Website, including but not limited to any intellectual property, text, graphics, images, audio, video, and data, is the property of the Organization and shall remain the property of the Organization.

7. Tracking Mechanisms. When you visit the Website, the Organization may send one or more cookies, beacons, tags, and scripts, which are small files containing a string of characters, to your hard drive, which uniquely identifies your browser. Any use of such tracking mechanisms by the Organization will be solely for the purpose of improving the quality of the Website by storing visitor preferences and tracking visitor trends. Most browsers initially default to accept cookies, but you can reset your browser to refuse all cookies, or to alert you when a cookie is being sent. Your ability to use some of the features of the Website may be limited by refusing such mechanisms. The Organization's advertising partners may also use such tracking mechanisms for similar purposes, which the Organization does not control.

8. Other Websites. This Privacy Policy applies to only the Website and any websites owned and operated by the Organization. The Organization does not exercise control over any other websites that you may visit from a link on the Website, and is not responsible for any actions by such websites.

9. Social Media Features. The Website may include links to various social media platforms, including but not limited to Facebook, LinkedIn, and Twitter. These links may also collect your IP address and may set a cookie to enable the link to function properly. Such social media links are generally hosted by third parties, and the Organization does not exercise control over such third parties, and is therefore not responsible for any actions by such third parties.

10. Update of Personal Information. If there is a change in your personally identifiable information and you would like to request that the Organization edit or delete such information, you should contact the Organization and specify what you would like changed. The Organization will attempt to respond to your request and edit such information as soon as possible. In the event that the Organization for some reason cannot edit or delete your personally identifiable information, the Organization will provide you with notice. The Organization will retain your personal information for as long as your account on the Website is active, or as it otherwise determines may be necessary to comply with the terms of this Privacy Policy or applicable law. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Organization will edit and/or delete your information from its records upon your request.

11. Sale of the Organization. The Organization may assign, sell, license, or otherwise transfer your name, company name, address, email address, or other personally identifiable information in the event of an assignment, sale, joint venture, or other transfer of the interests of the Organization to another entity. The Organization shall take reasonable steps to notify you of any such sale of the Organization, including its effect on your personally identifiable information.

12. Miscellaneous.

a. This Privacy Policy constitutes the entire agreement between you and the Organization with respect to the subject matter hereof and supersedes all prior agreements or understandings of any kind with respect to the subject matter hereof.

b. If any provision or part of this Privacy Policy shall be deemed void or invalid by a court of competent jurisdiction, the remaining provisions or parts shall be and remain in full force and effect.

c. The Organization reserves the right, in its sole discretion, to make modifications to this Privacy Policy from time to time. Any such modifications will be made by updating and posting a new version on the Website. If the Organization makes changes to this Privacy Policy, you will have the opportunity to review and approve the terms prior to your continued use of the Website. Should any modification be unacceptable to you, your sole recourse is to discontinue use of the Website.

d. The provisions of this Privacy Policy are solely for the benefit of the parties hereto and not for the benefit of any third parties, except that the Organization shall have the right to assign this Privacy Policy and/or any of the rights herein, and this Privacy Policy shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the Organization's assignee(s) hereto and their respective successors, assigns, and legal representatives.

e. No failure by either party to pursue any remedy resulting from a breach of any provision of this Privacy Policy by the other party shall be construed as a waiver of that breach or as a waiver of any subsequent or other breach unless such waiver is in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the non-breaching party.

f. Any notice, demand, or other communication which may or is required to be given under this Privacy Policy must be in writing to the Organization address listed on the Website, and must be: (i) personally delivered; (ii) transmitted by United States postage prepaid mail, registered, or certified mail, return receipt requested; (iii) transmitted by reputable overnight courier, such as Federal Express or UPS; (iv) transmitted by legible facsimile, with confirmation of receipt; or (v) transmitted by electronic mail, with confirmation of receipt.

g. This Privacy Policy shall be governed in accordance with the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in the United States of America, applicable to agreements to be wholly performed therein, without giving effect to its laws governing conflict of laws, with jurisdiction and venue exclusive to the federal and state courts located within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in the United States of America.

13. EU General Data Protection Regulation.

a. The EU General Data Protection Regulation ("GDPR") applies to companies that process and hold the personal data of data subjects located in the European Union. If you are a user located in the European Economic Area, then this section also applies to you.

b. As a user located in the European Economic Area, you have the following rights under GDPR regarding access to your personal data collected by the Organization:

i. You may request that the Organization transfer your personal data to you in a portable format, correct it, or delete it. You also retain the ability to update some of your personal data, such as your name and email address.

ii. You can request that the Organization stop using your personal data, and can withdraw your consent at any time by clicking the “unsubscribe” link in emails from the Organization.

iii. However, these rights are not absolute, and because the Organization may be required by law to process your personal data in certain instances, the Organization may retain such data even if you withdraw your consent.

iv. In instances where the Organization requires your personal data to comply with legal or contractual obligations, then the Organization’s retention of such personal data is mandatory, and if such personal data is not provided, then the Organization will not be able to meet its contractual obligations. Except for these specific instances, provision of requested personal data is optional.

v. If you have concerns about the Organization’s use of your personal data, you have the right to complain to the relevant data protection authority, which is the data protection authority of the country of either your habitual residence, your place of work, or where the alleged infringement occurred.